

Vision Statement

Candidate of Vice President of International Rough Set Society

JingTao Yao

I view the role of Vice President as a supporting role to the President. In particular, I will assist the President on report preparing, issues related IRSS conferences and election, etc. In addition, I will also work closely with IRSS board members to make IRSS a stronger and growing society.

I view the development of rough set research in three folders, theory, application and connection. We should continue research and deepened theoretical studies of rough sets which is our main strength. We should emphasise and widen our application investigations to make rough set theory as one of the top picks in information processing applications. We should also explore and strengthen our connections with other research domains by out reaching and inviting. In particular, we may organize special issues, special sessions, and workshops in various journals and conferences, and invite prominent researchers as keynote speakers in IRSS sponsored conferences
